WHO AM I?

I am an Italian software developer based in Milan. I strongly believe in good practices and team working. I thrive in an environment where teamwork is appreciated and encouraged. While writing code I always try to apply some magic tricks which will transform bad code into clean code.

My passion lies in keeping things simple.

EXPERIENCE

2020 – Present
Hybrid

Team Leader / Senior Full stack developer

Tech Gap Italia

As a Team Leader and Developer for an international project deployed on AWS, I coordinate the development team, ensure adherence to requirements, and craft effective solutions.

Java / AWS / SQL / Robot Framework / Vue.js

2017 – 2020

Full stack developer

Anoki IT

As a Full-Stack Developer on a project for a leading client in the game translation/localization industry, my responsibilities included overseeing the maintenance team and coordinating resources to resolve any client-reported issues. I contributed to code refactoring sessions and introduced new technologies such as Vue JS. To ensure high-quality code, we utilized SonarQube for static analysis. I also had the opportunity to serve as a tutor for new resources from time to time.

Java / SQL Server / JS / jQuery / Vue.js / JasperReports

2015 – 2015
internship

Frontend Developer

Università degli Studi dell'Insubria

Implementation of a responsive layout for the website Arte Lab. However, the project presented a unique challenge, as the owner requested that I avoid using any frameworks such as Bootstrap. Despite this constraint, I was able to achieve my goal by leveraging media queries to create a fully responsive design.

JS / CSS / HTML
